

---

Hiking to 14,000 ft

Posted by Cobb - 2008/02/25 09:46

---

FootTrailers,

Obviously, hiking is one of my favorite activities. I've always tried to challenge myself with hikes that were higher and farther than the ones before. This June, I plan to hike Long's Peak in Colorado which has an elevation of 14,259 feet above sea level. It is going to be quite a challenge for me, but is not even close to the challenges that people battling blood cancers face every day.

I am very excited about my opportunity to get involved with Hike For Discovery. I can participate in something I really enjoy while benefiting the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society. I am raising money for this very important cause and I'm asking you to help by making a contribution!

Please take a minute to visit my Hike For Discovery website.

<http://www.active.com/donate/hfdga/CCobb>

If you would like to make a donation, you can use the website to donate online quickly & securely. You will receive an email confirmation of your donation. I thank you in advance for your support, and really appreciate your generosity!!

Please forward this email to as many people as you can to encourage them to donate as well!

Thanks again,

Chris Cobb :cheer:

=====